

Penultimate day of racing for Frostbites winter series

Racing on Sunday was made difficult by light winds in the middle of the course but with a good breeze at either end.

In the first race Sam Woodcock crewed by Sam Archer in B20 "Kelpie" followed by Bernie Woodcock crewed by Jean Board in B61 "Echo" got the best starts, however David Yapp crewed by Julia Deary in B50 "Dodman" and Paul Armitage crewed by Karen Armitage in B60 "Jane" pulled past Woodcock to windward. In the lighter wind up to the middle mark, Shirley Hagger crewed by Pat Woodcock in B24 "Jimba" managed to glide through into the lead. At the end of the first lap the Armitages took the lead with Danny Tyrrell crewed by Ethan Lewis in B53 "Twinkle" close behind and Woodcock behind. Woodcock eventually pulled through to win with Armitage second and Tyrrell third. On handicap Armitage came first, Woodcock second and Mike Readhead crewed by Jess Readhead in the sole Enterprise third.

The second race started with three boats over the line, Tyrrell got a flying start followed by Sam Archer who now helmed B20. These two boats pulled out a commanding lead and finished in that order, with Armitage recovering to third. On handicap the positions remained unchanged.
