

Remembrance Day and light winds at Frostbites

On Sunday 10<sup>h</sup> November following a two minute silence 8 Norfolk Dinghies set off downstream with an ebb tide. Three boats were late getting to the right side of the start line, one being 12 minutes late! The usual leaders got away first namely Sam Woodcock in Kelpie crewed by Sam Archer followed closely by David Mackley in Lucifer crewed by Olivia Archer. They finished in that order with third place being taken by Danny Tyrrell in Twinkle crewed by Bruce Thompson. On handicap Woodcock remained first, in second came Wendy Bush in Coot crewed by Shirley Hagger and Tyrrell retained his third place.

With a slight wind change the second race started upstream and it was Bernie Woodcock in Echo crewed by Jean Board that took the lead. There was congestion between the top middle and top marks resulting a big position change. Sam Archer helming Kelpie who was way back and stationary in the tide at the start managed to steer through the struggling fleet and round the top mark first. After that, after going aground just before the finish line, he won the race. Olivia Archer helming Lucifer was 8 seconds behind and within the same minute came Bush in third. On handicap Olivia was first, Bush second and Sam Archer third.
